
Daily Geography

What large mountain range must the pioneers cross while traveling the Oregon Trail?

Many travelers began their journey at Ft. Independence, What state is the modern day Independence located?

Pikes Peak can be found in what western state?

The Rio Grande River forms the southern border of what state?

What Fort was located at 42 degrees north latitude and 105 degrees west longitude?

The Wilderness Road ended in what state?

Where would you find the Erie Canal?

To get to the port of New Orleans, what river would you travel?

The Gadsden Purchase of 1853 added land to what states?

The Mormons built their settlement along the shores of what large lake?

At what city did the Oregon Trail end?

What large landform would be traveled by pioneers immediately west of Fort Independence?

When did Oregon become a state?

U.S. Highway 40 was once what famous road?

Why do you think the locations for Fort Laramie, Fort Hall, Fort Boise, and Fort Vancouver were chosen?

Emigrants bound for California had to cross deserts in Utah and Nevada and then cross what mountain range?

The final spike of the transcontinental railroad was driven in Promontory Point in what state?

Some gold seekers headed for California around the Horn. Where is the Horn located?

Independence rock is located half way to Oregon. In which state will you find Independence Rock?

What river runs by Fort Boise?

What valley in Oregon promised the settlers fertile land?

What is unique about the Continental Divide?

Where did the name "Conestoga" come from?

The last major hazard faced by pioneers on the Oregon Trail was rapids known as The Dalles on what river?

What modern day states were crossed by pioneers on the Oregon Trail who started at Fort Independence?